VOL. XIV. NO. 126 MARION, OHIO, FRIDAY, APRIL 17, 1891. PRICE 3 CENTS

THROUGH ALABAMA.

The President Goes from Atlanta to Birmingham.

RECEPTIONS ON THE WAY.

Citizens Turn Out by Thousands to Pay Respect to the Chief Executive of the Nation—Twenty-Five Thousand People Go to Birmingham to See the President.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 17.—Extensive preparations had been made for doing honor to the president by the Georgia Pacific Railroad company, over which line the president and party journeyed. From Atlanta to Birmingham all the stations along the line of the road were decorated with the National colors, and the gigantic locomotive attached to the train was covered with bunting and had a large portrait of President Harrison fastened above the headlight.

At Lithia Springs.

Lithia Springs was the first stopping place, and during five minutes the mayor and a committee of citizens waited upon and paid their respects to the president.

Tallapoosa Turns Out.

There were no pains spared by the people of Tallapoosa, known as the "Yankee town under a southern sun," to make the president feel that he was welcome. When the train came to a halt at the station a few minutes after 11 o'clock, steam whistles sounded, and two brass bands started up simultaneously with "Hail to the Chief," and as the president appeared on the platform bowing to several hundred people gathered about the train there was much applause. Mayor Reed introduced the president who spoke as follows:

The President's Speech.

"My fellow citizens, this large assemblage of people from this new and energetic local city is very pleasant and I thank you for the welcome that it implies. All of these evidences of extending industry are extremely pleasing to me, as I observe them, they furnish employment to men, they imply comfortable homes, contented families, a safe social organization and the strength of the nation of which you are a part. I am glad to see that these enterprises that are taking the ores from the earth, and adapting them to the uses of civilization, have not been started here unaccompanied by that more important work of gathering the children into the schools and instructing them that they in their time may be useful men and women.

Talking to the Little Ones.

"I am glad to greet these little ones. It is a cheerful sight. We are soon to lay down the work of life and the responsibilities of citizenship. These mothers are soon to quit the ever recurring and never ending work of the home and give it into new hands. It is of the utmost consequence that these little ones be well trained in mind and taught the fear of God, and benevolent regard for their fellow man, in order that their lives and social relations be peaceful and happy. We are citizens of one country, having one duty. We are starting upon a new area of development, and I hope the development is to keep pace and is to be the promoting cause of a very perfect unification of our people.

"We have a government whose principles are very simple and very popular. The whole theory of our institutions is that pursuing those election methods, which we have prescribed under the constitution, every man shall exercise freely the right of suffrage that law concedes to him, and the majority, when it has expressed itself, shall conclude the issue for us all. There is no other foundation. This was the enduring base upon which the fathers of our country placed the institutions. Let us always keep them there. Let us press the debate in our campaigns as to what the law should be; but let us keep faith and submit with that reverence and respect which is due to the law when once lawfully enacted.

Development of the South.

"The development which is coming to you in these regions of the south is marvellous. In ten years you increased your production of iron about [illegible] per cent.—nearly 1,2[illegible]0,000 tons—and you have only begun to open these mines and to put these ores to the process of reduction. Now, I want to leave this thought with you. In the old plantation days of the south you got everything from somewhere else. Why not make it all yourselves?"

Flowers for Mrs. Harrison.

Just as the train was leaving Mrs. Harrison received several bouquets, and the postmaster of the town presented Mr. Wanamaker with a polished hickory cane.

Crossing the State Line.

Shortly after leaving Tallapoosa the train passed from Georgia into Alabama, and at the same time Governor Jones, of the latter state, was on his way from Birmingham to meet the president at a station called Henry Ellen.

Welcome at Anniston, Ala.

Nothing was lacking in the completeness of welcome given by the citizens of Anniston, Ala. Whistles sounded, bells rang, and flags waved everywhere and on all sides. Half the population of the city were in and about the station with bands, companies, a great number of school children, and a negro [illegible] were drawn up by the side of the track. The windows of the buildings in the vicinity of the station were crowded with people, and the tops of the houses and freight cars were also occupied by spectators.

As the train came to a standstill a flat car arranged as a platform for speaking was drawn up opposite the rear platform of the train and from this, after the mayor who had accompanied the party from Atlanta, had introduced the president, addresses of welcome were made by ex-Lieutenant Governor McElroy, and W. A. Stevens, a colored citizen. The president, standing bareheaded in a passing shower, responded as follows:

Speaking in the Rain.

"Gentlemen and fellow citizens: I very much regret that I am able to make so little return for this cordial manifestation of your respect and friendship, and yet, even in these few moments which I am to spend with you, I hope I shall gather and possibly be able to impart some impulse that may be mutually beneficial. I am glad to see the great development which is taking place in the mineral regions of the southern states. I remember well as a boy resident upon one of the great tributaries of the Mississippi, how the great agricultural products of these states: the corn and provisions raised upon the fertile acres of the Ohio and Mississippi valleys, were raised in the south.

"The south was then essentially a plantation region, producing one or two great staples that found a ready market in the world; but dependent for all its implements of industry and its domestic utensils, even upon the states of the north. I am glad all this is changed, as you are realizing the benefits of a diversified agriculture and that the production upon your farms of these staples which you once bought elsewhere, is largely increased, and I am glad that to diversified agriculture you have also added the great mercantile pursuits which have brought into your communities artisans and laborers, who take from adjacent farms the surplus of your fertile lands.

"There has been received in the south since the war not less than eight billion dollars for cotton, and while I rejoice in that, I am glad to know that in the mineral region there are nearly 100,000 acres devoted to raising watermelons (laughter). No farmer, certainly no planter in the old time would have consented to sell watermelons. You are learning that things which were small and despised have come to be great elements in your commerce. Now your railroads make special provisions for the transportation of a crop which in the aggregate brings large wealth to your people.

"I mention this as a good illustration of the changing condition into which you are entering. You are realizing the benefits of home markets for what you produce, and I am sure you will unite with me in those efforts which we ought to make, not only to fill our own markets with all that this great nation of 65,000,000 needs, but to reach out to other markets and enter into competition with the world for them. This we shall do and, with all this mechanical and commercial development we shall realize largely that condition or unification of heart and interests to which those, who have spoken for you, have so eloquently alluded.

"And now wishing that every expectation of all who are interested in this enterprising young city may be realized; that all your industries may be profitable; I add the wish that those gentler and kindlier agencies of the school and church, of a friendly social life may always pervade and abide with you as a community."

En Route to Birmingham.

The train left Anniston amid great enthusiasm twenty minutes after its arrival there. A short stop was made at Pell City, where three cheers and a tiger were given by several hundred people for President Harrison and the ladies of the party. The president shook hands with a number of people, while the ladies devoted themselves to little girls who were handed up from the crowd.

Governor Jones and the members of his staff in full regimentals, Col. T. Taliaferro and a reception committee of citizens of Birmingham boarded the train at Henry Ellen, twenty miles from Birmingham, and welcomed the president to the state of Alabama.

At Birmingham.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 17.—Yesterday was the warmest day of the season in Birmingham but it was not warmer than the reception given President Harrison by the people of the "Magic City." Half a dozen miles from Birmingham factory and locomotive whistles began to sound their shrill notes and hundreds of other whistles taking up the strain, the noise became almost deafening to those on the train. Along the track signal torpedoes had been placed and from the time the outskirts of the city were reached until the train came to a stand still at the station, there was a succession of sharp reports added to the pandemonium that already reigned.

Booming of cannon and shouting from thousands of throats greeted the appearance of the president and party on the platform of the train. A temporary stand had been erected in the station, and to this the president was escorted by Governor Jones and Mayor Lane. The enthusiastic shouts of the concourse ceased when Governor Jones, on behalf of the state, eloquently and feelingly welcomed the president to Alabama. Mayor Lane spoke in behalf of the city.

As each gentleman finished his remarks, the president grasped his hand, and each time this little incident occurred, the people shouted out approval. The president then made an address which was vigorously applauded.

Military and Civic Parade.

A military and civic parade had been formed to escort the president about the principal streets, and he went from the platform to an open carriage drawn by four caparisoned horses, the leaders led by grooms. With him were Governor Jones and Mayor Lane. The procession made a circuit of the city, headed by mounted police. Following in order were bands of music, the Birmingham Rifles, military companies from Selma and Montgomery, Grand Army posts, posts of Confederate veterans, then the president followed by the presidential party in carriages, governor's staff, mounted aldermen and citizens' committee.

Thousands of Strangers in the City.

Excursion trains have been busy during the day bringing in people from the surrounding country. Fully 25,000 strangers were in the city. The streets were packed with people, who cheered lustily as the president passed by. As the procession passed the opera house the members of a traveling opera company sang "America," and on one of the principal streets the school children of the city were assembled en masse. As the carriage containing the president was passing the children, two little tots stepped forward and handed to the president a beautifully illuminated address from all the school children in the city. The president was taken by surprise, and had his carriage halt. Stepping down to the ground he kissed each of the little ones who made the presentation. The crowd cheered and the children sang "America" as the president drove on.

Bird's-Eye View of Birmingham.

The drive ended at the Caldwell hotel, where cars were taken by the presidential party to South Highlands, where a bird's eye view of the city was obtained. The party returned from Highlands to the Caldwell hotel, where a short reception was held, after which about 300 ladies and gentlemen sat down with presidential party to an informal lunch. President Harrison then went to a reception given him by the colored citizens at the Sixteenth Street Baptist church, and responded briefly to an address of welcome. After the reception he was driven to the train which left for Memphis amid cheers of an immense crowd shortly after 8 o'clock.

MINE GAS EXPLOSION.

One Man Killed, Another Supposed to Be Dead, and Two Fatally Injured.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., April 17.—A fatal explosion of mine gas occurred in No. 10 colliery at Gearytown, near Tamaqua, at 10 o'clock yesterday morning by which one man was killed outright, another supposed to be dead, two are fatally injured and three others are badly burned.

The list of killed and injured is as follows:

William Backus, of Coaldale, married; fatally hurt.

One man name unknown, of Gearytown, still in the mine supposed to be dead.

James Davis, Joseph Gallagher and Charles Keenan, badly burned.

The explosion occurred in the main gangway of the second left on the west side, and was caused by a naked lamp right at the door of the gangway. The miners all wore naked lamps in their hat.

Injured by Lightning.

TRENTON, Mo., April 17.—William Hoffman, William Ferguson and Frederick Stinson sought shelter from a storm this morning under a tree. Lightning struck the tree, instantly killing Hoffman who was leaning against the tree. Ferguson had his hand on Hoffman's shoulder and was knocked senseless, falling face downward in a pool of water. Stinson was paralyzed below the knees, but managed to pull Ferguson from the water and then crawled a mile to town for assistance. Ferguson is totally paralyzed and will die. The only mark on Hoffman is a blue spot on his forehead.

Allen O. Myers Seriously Injured.

CINCINNATI, April 17.—While Allen O. Myers was standing in the Grand hotel Wednesday, J. M. Hill, the well known theatrical manager, came up behind him and putting his arm around his neck gave him the strangler hold. The strain was so sudden that it ruptured a blood vessel. A doctor was immediately called, and after receiving attention Myers was taken home. The injury was not thought serious, but yesterday afternoon Myers had another violent hemorrhage, and the doctors consider his condition very critical.

General Spinola Laid Away.

NEW YORK, April 17.—The funeral of Gen. Francis B. Spinola, the veteran Democratic statesman and member of congress, took place yesterday from the Church of the Immaculate Conception. A congressional delegation from Washington, the members of Shields post, No. 60, G. A. R., the Tammany Hall general committee for the Sixteenth assembly district and hundreds of local politicians attended the funeral besides the family and personal friends of the deceased.

Protecting the Seals.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Acting Secretary Nettleton has officially informed the collectors of customs in the northwest and in Alaska that the president has issued a proclamation for the protection of the seal and salmon fisheries of Alaska. Directions have been given for the publication of the proclamation for one month in the papers on the Pacific coast.

R. Q. Mills Out for Senator.

PRINCETON, Ky., April 17.—Roger Q. Mills, of Texas, while visiting friends here, stated that he would not stand for re-election to the lower house of congress; that he was serving his last term. However, if the people of his state desired to keep him in public life they must send him to the United States senate.

Postoffice Robbed.

CUMBERLAND, Md., April 17.—Wednesday night the postoffice at Piedmont, about thirty miles west of here, was robbed by burglars of stamps and money, supposed to amount to about $90. The burglars gained entrance to the office by prying open the back door. The officers are searching for the criminals.

Base Ball.

At Baltimore—Baltimore 15, Athletics [illegible].

At Washington—Washington 0, Boston 12.

At Louisville—Louisville 5, Cincinnati 7.

At St. Louis—St. Louis-Columbus game postponed on account of rain.

COKERS' TROUBLES.

A Break in the Ranks of the Strikers.

SEVERAL COKE WORKS START UP.

Two Hundred Italians to Take the Place of the Strikers—Money for the Men Who Are Out—A Sheriff Meets His Match in Serving Evictions—Other Labor News.

SCOTTDALE, Pa., April 17.—Another break in the ranks of the coke strikers occurred yesterday. The Summit plant of Frick & Company, which shut down when the rioting began, resumed yesterday morning with forty-eight men, or about one-third of the men necessary to run the works in full.

Labor leaders who denied that the Tyrone works were in operation with a full quota of men now admit that it is true.

The strikers in the coke region are much encouraged. A large sum of relief money was received from Columbus yesterday afternoon. James McBride, a member of the district executive committee, is busy distributing the money where most needed. The strike leaders maintain a bold front, but the increased shipments show that the operators are gradually gaining. The Frick company shipped 10[illegible] cars of coke yesterday and report additions to their forces at all plants except Morewood. The Calumet and Whitney works were fired up yesterday, and by means of the newly imported 200 Italians, the managers expect to be running full to-morrow.

Mass meetings of strikers are being held at a number of places, and the strikers are making renewed efforts to have the men at work rejoin their ranks.

Deputies are guarding Summit works in anticipation of a raid.

A few strikers' families were evicted at Summit, Morgan's and Leisenring yesterday. Several hundred notices have been served at various places and wholesale evictions are threatened.

An Evictor Evicted.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., April 17.—Sheriff McCormack started out on his eviction tour yesterday morning and was himself evicted before his task was completed. He met with no trouble in setting out six families at Morgans, but at the Trotter works in attempting to oust the family of Fred Strausach, a stalwart Hollander, he met with a lively reception. A crowd of strikers kept the deputies from entering Strausach's house, while the sheriff himself was met in the house by Strausach's wife and five other women, who charged on him furiously. They threw hot water and hot coffee on him and then pitched him out through the door. They were armed with new axes and mining picks, and would have killed the sheriff had he persisted. Subsequently Strausach went to Connellsville to prosecute the sheriff, when he was arrested and taken to jail. He will make another attempt to-morrow with a larger force, and should resistance again be offered the governor will be asked to lend military aid.

Troops to Be Withdrawn.

PITTSBURG, April 17.—A Harrisburg special to The Times says: Adjt. Gen. McClelland left for Greensburg last night and the Tenth regiment National Guard of Pennsylvania will be withdrawn from the coke region either today or Saturday. Sheriff Clawson, of Westmoreland county, has telegraphed the governor requesting that the troops be permitted to remain, as he anticipates serious trouble when the wholesale evictions are attempted next week. The governor, however, informed Sheriff Clawson that if trouble broke out again which the local authorities could not cope with the troops would be ordered to the sheriff's assistance at once.

Strike in the Building Trades.

PITTSBURG, April 17.—The master builders of Pittsburg and Allegheny, held a meeting at the Builders' exchange last night, at which they definitely rejected the demands of the journeymen for an eight-hour work day on and after May 1. The probabilities are that the building trades' council will, at their meeting Saturday night, enter upon a proposition to have all the men in their organization join the carpenters in the strike, as over two-thirds of the building trades workers will be thrown out of employment by the strike. About 20,000 men will be involved.

Eight-Hour Suit.

Workingmen's Protest.

NEW YORK, April 17.—A mass meeting of workingmen was held at Cooper Union last night, under the auspices of the Housesmiths union, to protest against the hanging of the three Hungarian strikers who are under sentence of death in Pittsburg for participation in the Braddock riot at which several men were killed. T. P. [illegible] and Herr Most addressed the meeting, and resolutions were adopted which declare that the coming execution of the Hungarians is a crime similar to the executions of Nov. 11, 1887.

Strikers Rioting.

MORRISTOWN, N. J., April 17.—The men at the Sterling Silk Mills, eight miles from here, struck last night and are reported to be rioting. The company telegraphed the sheriff asking for help, and a posse of twenty-five men went there this morning.

Indiana's Wheat Crop.

INDIANAPOLIS, April 17.—Secretary Bailey, of the state board of agriculture, has returned from a trip through the northern part of the state. He says there never was such a prospect for a large wheat crop as there is this spring.

Suicided With a Rifle.

CINCINNATI, April 17.—Henry [illegible], a farmer, living New [illegible], suicided yesterday by shooting himself in the head with a rifle.

GROWTH OF CITIES.

Marvelous Increase of Population in Some of Them.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—The marvelous growth of cities in the United States has been a frequent subject of notice and comment at home and abroad, but a census bulletin just issued makes a presentation of the increase in population between 1880 and 1890 of cities and towns having a population of 5,000 and over that is very striking.

For instance, who would think that Tacoma, Wash., had increased 3,179 per cent., or over thirty times its population of 1880, having at the last count 36,006 inhabitants; or that Spokane Falls had increased 5,[illegible]82 per cent., with 20,000 people. These are the largest percentages of increase noted, unless it be that of the flourishing town of Roanoke, Va., which had no given population in 1880, but now has 16,159. El Paso, Tex., with a present population of 9,002 has increased 1,501 per cent., and Kansas City, Kan., shows a growth of 1,097 per cent.

The increase in Kansas City, Mo., was 137 per cent.; Lima, O., 111 per cent. and in Findlay, O., 300 per cent. All the towns and cities of Ohio show a healthy increase, the largest in her oil and gas region. The great line of improvement in population seems to be along the northwest and southward through Tennessee, Georgia, Alabama and Texas. Birmingham, Ala., has increased [illegible]8 per cent.; Anniston, Ala., 9[illegible]8 per cent.; Brunswick, Ga., 102 per cent.; Chattanooga, 125 per cent., and Nashville, 75 per cent.

Following are a number of towns and cities showing the largest increase:

Amesbury, Mass., 102 per cent.; Arkansas City, Kan., 721; Asheville, N. C., 391; Anderson, Ind., 160; Beatrice, Neb., 365; Butte, Mont., 218; Canton, O., 115; Cheyenne, Wy., 258; Cincinnati, O., 16; Cleveland, O., 63; Columbus, O., 70; Dallas, Tex., 267; Denison, Tex., 175; Denver, Col., 170; Des Moines, Iowa, 123; Duluth, Minn., 870; East Portland, Ore., 2[illegible]0; Elgin, Ill., 102; Fort Scott, Kan., 1[illegible]2; Fort Smith, Ark., 261; Forth Worth, Tex., 246; Fresno, Cal., 872; Hastings, Neb., 282; Helena, Mont., 281; Hot Springs, Ark., 1[illegible]7; Huntington, W. Va., 218; Hutchinson, Kan., [illegible]2; Meriden, Miss., 165; Minneapolis, Minn., 251; Mount Carmel, Pa., 247; Muncie, Ind., 117; Muskegon, Mich., 161; Nebraska City, Neb., 171; Ogden, Utah, 145; Omaha, Neb., 360; Paris, Tex., 107; Pine Bluff, Ark., 210; Portland, Ore., 1[illegible]; Pueblo, Col., 16[illegible]; St. Paul, Minn., 221; Salt Lake City, Utah, 115; San Diego, Cal., 512; Seattle, Wash., 1,112; Sheboygan, Wis., 12[illegible]; Sioux City, Iowa, [illegible]; Sioux Falls, S. Dak., 370; Springfield, Mo., 135; Streator, Ill., 121; Wichita, Kan., 385; Youngstown, O., 11[illegible].

SHOVING THE QUEER.

A Woman Passes a Number of Counterfeit Bills on Indiana Farmers.

NORTH VERNON, Ind., April 17.—Some days ago a stylishly dressed, elderly lady alighted from a train in this city and proceeded at once to the country, giving out that she wanted to purchase 5,000 acres of land and stock it with thoroughbred cattle. Many farmers flocked to see her, hopeful of selling their farms, and none were disappointed, for the woman contracted to take everything offered at good figures.

After making these contracts she reported that she was compelled to return to Cincinnati for money with which to close her purchases, but as a guarantee of good faith she offered to advance $25 to bind the bargains made, and tendered a $100 bill, requesting $75 in change. She caught no one here. She was next heard of at Butlerville, where she successfully worked a farmer out of $85, receiving that amount in good money in exchange for a $100 counterfeit bill. Some of the parties who dickered with her are now claiming she was a man in disguise.

Proceedings of Both Branches of the General Assembly.

A MORNING OF DISCUSSION.

But Very Little Accomplished in Either the Senate or House—Some Interesting Information About Ohio Crops—Other News of Interest to the Ohio Readers.

COLUMBUS, O., April 17.—The senate wasted the entire morning in a fruitless tariff discussion, the theme being Senator Cole's "cheap sugar" resolution. There will be a renewal next Tuesday, to which time the discussion was continued.

Senator Buchanan introduced a bill to protect honey bees by prohibiting the putting of Paris green or other poisons upon blossoming trees or plants.

The senate defeated Senator Richard's bill making it a penitentiary offense to seduce any female whether 18 years or or older. It was construed as an effort in the behalf of "old maids," and the discussion created much laughter.

The bills increasing the pay of the Cincinnati policemen and firemen became laws by passing the senate; also issuing $5,000,000 bonds for Cincinnati water works upon a vote of the people.

The house spent the entire morning in discussing Robinson's bill abolishing the office of county infirmary director and vesting the powers and duties of such officers in the county commissioners.

In the afternoon the house passed Senator Gaumer's bill to give the people of Dresden Junction the title to $50,000 worth of land. The canal commission claimed it was the state's land and tried to defeat the bill, as it set bad precedent.

The senate finance committee have about agreed on an appropriation bill. At last night's meeting they replaced the allowance of $100,000 for the intermediate penitentiary at Mansfield, and adopted amendments appropriating $35,000 for the Cleveland asylum and $40,000 for the Gallipolis epileptic asylum.

OHIO'S WHEAT AND STOCK.

Interesting Information From the Department of Agriculture.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—The department of agriculture has received reports from all the counties of Ohio which show the condition of wheat and stock.

Generally the reports indicate a fine crop of wheat as with the exception of some counties in the western reserve, the weather was favorable and the plants are in excellent condition. There is every probability of a large yield.

Stock is not so well. There have been large losses of hogs through cholera in all parts of the state, many farmers loosing all their hogs. The disease seems to have been most virulent in the eastern part of the state, although heavy losses were sustained in the northwest and western parts. Epizootic in horses is reported from many counties, but only a few fatalities are reported. In some of the northeastern counties especially the wool producing counties, there has been considerable hoof disease in sheep, and most all counties send reports of catarrh or scab in sheep, but few losses have occurred, however.

Rioters Indicted.

DEFIANCE, O., April 17.—The following persons were arrested yesterday under indictment for rioting found by the grand jury in its investigation of the Mell killing Feb. 2[illegible]: R. T. Whitaker, Frank Ferguson, William Polk, William Cutter, William Hooker, Virgil Squire, Leonard Gleason, Ed. Gleason, Jay Earley, Charles Koschner, O. F. Loveridge, James Weber, Samuel Stephens, Gustav Wagner and Harry Emery. Each gave bail of $500. The trials will probably not come off this term. The feeling is more intense since the indictments have been found than before, and dissatisfaction marks the countenances of the poorer and working classes. Trouble is feared.

Scalded to Death in an Explosion.

LIMA, O., April 17.—William Sigler, engineer of a portable sawmill on the farm of T. W. Fobbins, just west of town, was scalded from head to foot by the bursting of the boiler about 9 o'clock yesterday morning and died soon afterward. He was 21 years of age and was from Columbus Grove, twelve miles south of Lima.

Meeting of the State Farmers' Alliance.

COLUMBUS, O., April 17.—There was a large attendance of representative farmers of the state at the opening meeting of the state Alliance in the Masonic hall last night. A. E. Sprague presided and Governor Campbell made the welcoming address. President L. L. Polk, of North Carolina, made a lengthy speech.

Gamblers Taken In.

[illegible], O., April 17.—In police court yesterday four keepers of gambling houses raided Wednesday night pleaded guilty and were fined $100 and costs each. Two pleaded not guilty and will be tried. Forty gamblers forfeited bail, $10 each, and seventeen will stand trial.

CHICAGO ELECTION.

Official Returns Already Counted Have Not Decided Who Is Mayor.

CHICAGO, April 17.—When the election commissioners resumed work on the official count yesterday the friends of Mayor Cregier were ready to admit that, as far as the canvass had gone, he had lost 101 votes by comparison with the semi-official returns placed in their hands the morning following the election. The Republicans lay claim to a gain so far of 120.

Mr. Cregier's friends have never claimed a plurality for him of over 235 and a loss of a dozen more votes would wipe it out altogether. Four wards—the Twenty-second, Twenty-third, Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth—were canvassed yesterday before the board adjourned for lunch. Washburne lost 9 votes and Cregier 1 in the morning's canvass.

Bishop Gilmour's Remains.

CINCINNATI, April 17.—The remains of the Right Rev. Bishop Gilmour, late bishop of the Cleveland diocese, who died in St. Augustine Tuesday night, were brought to this city yesterday evening, and last night lay in state at the St. Patrick's church on Third street. This morning they were taken to Cleveland, where his funeral will take place on next Tuesday morning. Most Rev. Archbishop Elder will celebrate the requiem high mass, and the eulogy will be pronounced by Bishop McQuaid, of Rochester, N. Y.

Elevator Burned.

DALLAS, Tex., April 17.—The Todd mills and elevator were destroyed by fire last night. The mill and machinery were valued at $80,000; insured for $50,000. Twenty carloads of flour owned by Armstrong & Company were consumed; insured. The Texas and Pacific and Santa Fe Railroad companies suffered considerable loss in cars and trestle work. Many telegraph poles were burned and the wires are down. The aggregate loss will reach $200,000. A spark from an engine caused the conflagration.

Railroad Building in Ecuador.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—The congress of Ecuador sometime ago granted a concession to a French syndicate to build a system of railroads from Guayaquil to the interior and to Rio Bomba and Quito. Recent advices from Paris are to the effect that the arrangements of the syndicate are completed, the money raised, contracts let, and the engineer corps will sail from England soon.

The Election in Geestemunde.

BERLIN, April 17.—The Geestemunde returns are incomplete, but sufficient to make it certain that Bismarck will have to submit to the dignity of a reballot. This, however, is certain to result in his election. The reballot is expected next Sunday.

The Spring Medicine

The popularity which Hood's Sarsaparilla has gained as a spring medicine is wonderful. It possesses just those elements of health giving, blood purifying and appetite-restoring which everybody seems to need at this season. Do not continue in a dull, tired, unsatisfactory condition when you may be so much benefitted by Hood's Sarsaparilla. It purifies the blood and makes the weak strong.

With the salary of the policemen raised the city will be given better protection. That follows as a matter of course.

Kenton did not indict the lynchers of Bales. The talk of meting out justice to mobs of lynchers is generally wholly talk. It never attains more than a pretense.

In city matters the Republicans are "not in it" this year. But there is no cause for grief. They weren't particularly "in it" last year with four councilmen and a mayor.

Senator Quay thinks the national conventions should be held early next year, in May rather than July when it is so fearfully hot that matters are decidedly uncomfortable. Quay is evidently not a retired politician, as his enemies had hoped.

The rentals for the Delaware opera house for the year ending March 31, amounted to $2143.55. These figures ought to interest some one here. Delaware will hardly compare to Marion as an amusement city. It may develop some day that a good opera house would be a reasonably good investment in this city.

The dog doesn't get a fair show nowadays. The sheep claim is worked so vigorously that the dog laws are made more severe and the canines, if the laws are to be enforced, are to be a curtailed class. A law has passed one branch of the legislature imposing a fine of $5.00 on a person letting a dog run at large.

Reports from Mexico show that more goods are being imported from the United States and less from Europe than in former years. Mr. Blaine's policy of extending trade between American republics is bearing fruit. Latin America will be an excellent customer when the people become better acquainted with those of the United States.

Under the decennial reapportionment for representatives in the Ohio general assembly, Morrow county is tacked on to Marion, giving the two counties a joint representative. The senatorial district, composed of Marion Logan, Union and Hardin counties, remains the same. The democratic majority in Marion and Morrow combined is about 300, so the election will not be a certainty to a democratic nominee in the future.

Booth's Fortune.

I am glad to say that so far as money is concerned Edwin Booth has enough to keep him in comfort the rest of his life. He was able to give $130,000 to the Players' club, and if current reports are true he has invested in one of our large insurance companies a sum of money which insures to him an annuity of $15,000 a year for life. He did this when some of his friends rather protested against his lavish gift to the club. I suppose that, notwithstanding the canceling of the Booth engagement here, the great actor's name will remain for some years to come a potent attraction to audiences, for Booth, even in his decadence, is still a man worth seeing.—New York Cor. Charleston News and Courier.

Chose to Die with His Sweetheart.

Andrew Moore, aged twenty-one, and Miss Ollie Cox, aged sixteen, were drowned in the Luxapalia river, at Kennedy, Ala., recently. This couple, together with Joe Kennedy and Miss Floy Cook, all pupils of the Kennedy high school, were out boating. The boat capsized, and Mr. Kennedy barely succeeded in bringing Miss Cook to the shore, but Mr. Moore was unable to swim through the strong current with Miss Cox, and gave up his life rather than swim out alone. The young lady was the daughter of Representative Cox, of Pickens county. Mr. Moore and Miss Cox were to have been married shortly.—Cor. Memphis Appeal-Avalanche.

London's Easter Customs.

Good Friday and Easter customs in this old country are numerous and curious. For instance, in London, Friday, sixty of the youngest boys of Christ's hospital school attended divine service at a church in Lombard street, in the midst of great banks, and afterward received each a bag of raisins, one new penny and one bun at the old priory church in West Smithfield. Twenty-one widows each picked up a new sixpence from a tomb in the churchyard, just as the same number of widows have done for 500 years.—London Letter.

Ex-Premier Crispi, of Italy, finds the law a profitable profession, an Italian steamship company having engaged him as counsel at an annual salary of $10,000.

No Trouble With the Indians.

Washington, April 17. The Indian bureau has received no information or petition from the white settlers in the vicinity of Rolla and St John, N. Dak., in regard to the reported trouble among the Indians and half-breeds in the Turtle mountains, and discredit the story.

FEMININE FANCIES.

A grand niece of the Duke of Wellington is obliged to earn her living by selling flowers in a London arcade.

Mrs. Langtry is the owner of a pin cushion made of the silver in which vegetables were once served to the kings of Ireland.

Mrs. Nellie Blessing Eyster, president of the Women's Press association of the Pacific coast, is a grand niece of Barbara Frietchie.

Annie L. Kelly, the new reading clerk of the Colorado senate, is but nineteen years of age, and is an elocutionist of considerable repute in the west.

Mrs. Leland Stanford gives $50,000 a year to charitable objects, and keeps a number of women employed making pretty home decorations for her Washington and California homes.

One of the prettiest belles of Tennessee is Miss Willie Wilkerson, of Memphis. She is a dainty brunette, with a graceful figure, a coquettish face and a captivating charm of manner.

Mrs. H. I. Miller, of Chattanooga, Tenn., has in her possession the first gun made for the Confederate government. The gun was made by Mrs. Miller's father, W. S. McElwaine, at Holly Springs, Miss., in the summer of 1861.

Dr. Mary Walker says: "You talk about a woman who puts on trousers feeling like a fool. Just you trail around with skirts wet to your knees flopping about your heels, and then tell me who feels the nearer ready for cap and bells."

The Baroness von Roque has had another interview with her daughter, Mrs. Maybrick, who she says is much changed in appearance since she was seen in the dock and looks wan and worn. She is engaged in the kitchen at the prison at cooking.

Mrs. Talmage is a busy woman, most of her time being devoted to helping her husband in his literary and pastoral work. She takes entire charge of her husband's mail, and is frequently up soon after daybreak to open it. Many of his letters she answers herself.

Miss Virginia Hunt, of Greenville, Miss., is considered one of the prettiest women in the state. She is a blonde of the purest type, of medium height and well rounded figure. Her eyes are violet in color, shaded by brown lashes. She is connected with the famous Blackburn family of Kentucky.

Dr. Edith Pechy-Phipson, who has been appointed a member of the senate of Bombay university for her public spirited action in speaking against the system of child marriage in India, was one of the first women to take the medical course of Edinburgh university, which she entered in 1869.

Mrs. George Cavendish-Bentinck, the American wife of the Duke of Portland's grandson, is a New York girl, being a descendant of the Livingstons of colonial days. She is a small and slight and very pretty woman, and her home in Richmond terrace has one of the most artistic interiors in London.

Kate Field is not the large, dashing, masculine woman that many believe she is by any means. On the contrary, she is exceedingly feminine and unassuming. She is rather small in stature, with an admirable manner and a knack of saying things that are remembered and passed along from mouth to mouth.

Miss Hayden, the young Boston woman who has won the prize for the best design for the woman's building at the World's fair, is only twenty-two years old. She is a graduate of the Institute of Technology in Boston, and her design shows remarkable talent, though she had not previously won any fame as an architect.

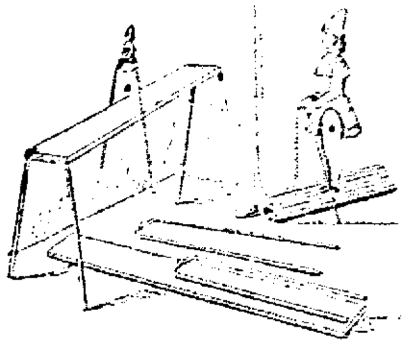
SCIENCE AND PROGRESS.

INSTRUCTIVE FACTS AND INFORMATION OF POPULAR INTEREST.

Scientific Recreations Which Are Entertaining, Not Only as Agreeable Pastimes, but Also as Illustrations of Important Principles in Familiar Science.

The automatic pedestrian originally depicted and described in the Popular Science News, and here reproduced, is a curious little toy, interesting from its very simplicity. It consists of an inclined plane formed from a piece of wood and some bent wires and a small figure of tin, the legs of which move freely on a pivot of wire as shown in the enlarged drawing.

Two other wires are passed through the body of the figure to prevent the legs from moving beyond the length of an ordinary step. In its hands is placed a piece of wire bent into the shape of a V. This serves as a balancing pole, and when the figure is placed on the board it brings the center of gravity below its feet so that it will retain its upright position. If now the "pedestrian" is placed at the top of the inclined plane he starts off and walks rapidly down toward the lower end, throwing his weight from one foot to the other in a quite natural manner. When it is considered that there is no machinery at all concealed in the figure the result is quite surprising, but is easily explained as the result of the slight oscillatory motion given to the figure by the balancing wire. It is, in fact, a pendulum, and as it swings from side to side the point of support is shifted automatically from one foot of the figure to the other, while the weight of the whole causes it to fall or walk down the inclined plane in a very natural and amusing manner.



THE AUTOMATIC PEDESTRIAN.

The Inhabitants of a Cheese.

Dr. Adametz, a Swiss scholar, has been taking a census of the inhabitants of a cheese. The microscopic examination of one "gramm" of a fresh Emmenthaler cheese, such as is sold under the name of Gruyere, contained no fewer than 90,000 so called microbes. This prodigious encampment, after seventy days, proved to have increased to a tribe of 800,000. Another sort of cheese contained within a single "gramm" board and lodging for about two million microbes, while in a "gramm" cut from the rind of the same cheese Dr. Adametz found about five million of these inhabitants! A piece of cheese upon our tables, of a few pounds' weight, may consequently contain more microbe inhabitants than there are human inhabitants in the whole world.

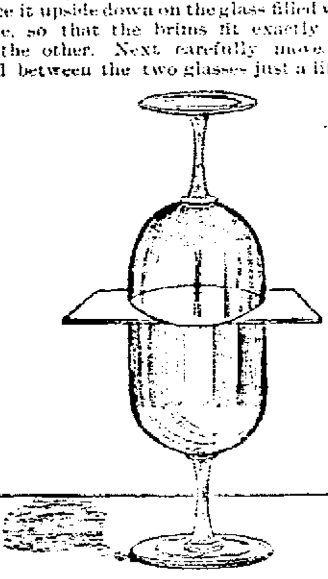
A Phenomenon Attracting Attention.

Experiments recently made in Germany have added convincing evidence to a fact already noted—to wit, the variability of terrestrial latitudes—for example, the latitudes of Berlin, Potsdam and Prague, diminished between August, 1889, and February, 1890, about half a second of arc. In the latter year, between April and August, the latitude of Berlin increased four-tenths of a second. In other words, Berlin is nearer the North Pole in summer than in winter. The periodicity of these variations would indicate that the direction of the earth's axis, under the influence of some external or internal disturbance, was changing

Comparative Density of Water and Wine.

The experiment illustrated in our cut is an old but admirable example of the gravity of water and wine.

Select two wine glasses of uniform size and light, delicate make. Fill one even to the brim with claret or other dark colored wine or liquor and the other with water. Cover the glass of water with a card and place it upside down on the glass filled with wine, so that the brims fit exactly one on the other. Next carefully move the card between the two glasses just a little, sufficient to leave a small opening between the two glasses, and then quietly watch the result. The water immediately begins to flow into the wine, and the wine, which is the lighter of the two fluids, mounts into the glass on the top. It takes from five to ten or more minutes to complete the experiment, but you will eventually see that the wine and water have exchanged places, the water having driven the wine into the upper glass. A little skill and patience are all that is required. It is advised to make the first experiments on a tray or similar receptacle, as there is a liability to spill some of the liquid.



AN INSTRUCTIVE EXPERIMENT.

A Valuable Mineral Discovery.

A Quebec correspondent calls attention to a remarkably valuable discovery in minerals. States that in Lower Canada there has been found an entire mountain composed of silicates otherwise known as vitrifiable stone, of a purity certified by the provincial engineer to average 98 per cent. This material is used for the manufacture of the finest glass, and is believed to exist nowhere else on the American continent in such purity.

It is claimed that an eastern chemist has discovered a process for making soap from corn. The discovery promises to revolutionize the art of soap making. The product is said to be absolutely pure and better than the finest toilet soap now made.

ALL AROUND THE HOUSE.

It is a [illegible] nowadays to have as [illegible] as possible about the frames of pictures, and this enables a clever woman to make some very pretty ones at small expense. Drake's Magazine gives some good hints for the home manufacture of frames the following:

Some are painted a tender gray and have a delicate pattern traced on them. Others are gilded or bronzed or given a coat of white enamel paint. These last are very popular at present.

Frames of plain pine, with a beveled edge, can be made very attractive by giving them a coat of glue, and before they are dry sprinkling them thoroughly with rice, oatmeal or hominy. The edges should be left plain. When dry, give another coat, and when perfectly dry gild with gold or silver paint. Dried grass and grains are pretty when fastened on plain pine frames. Oil the frame well and then varnish, leaving the natural color of the wood to show. Oats are the most graceful for this purpose.

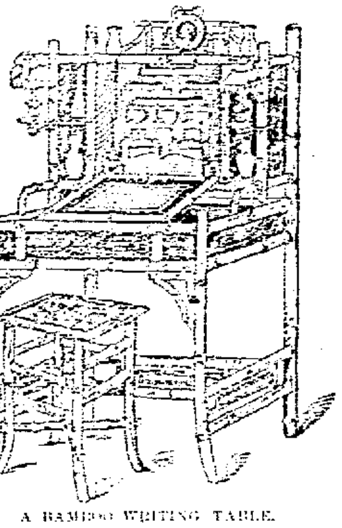
Etchings and marine views are now framed in manila rope and unbleached duck. Cut the desired shape from pasteboard and cover with duck, being careful to paste the edges all down on the back of the frame. Fasten the end of your rope securely with thread to prevent raveling and sew it on the frame, leaving several inches at the end. Leave a loop at each corner and begin at the middle of the lower part. Finish with a flat knot and fringe the ends. Paste a piece of plain cardboard on the back the same size.

Large gilt picture frames consigned to the attic as antique are now in demand. Paint them with white enamel paint and place a narrow strip of plush, or velvet of some delicate color, inside; put in your etching, photograph or water color, and the effect will be charming. This is an especially pretty frame for an easel, with scarf or drape of soft mull or bolting cloth gracefully draped over one corner.

It will save much to buy the moldings of the dealer or manufacturer and make the frames at home. Oak and curly maple are much liked. Other woods can be stained very nicely; ash frames can be stained oak, cherry and mahogany.

The Newest Fads in Furnishing.

The modern drawing room illustrates the taste of all periods. Eastern furniture, old English and old French furniture and the furniture of today are mixed together with a reckless disregard of anachronisms. Within the last few months French furniture has grown to be very fashionable.



A BAMBOO WRITING TABLE.

The taste for bamboo seems always to hold its own. It provides undoubtedly some very artistic pieces of furniture. Our sketch represents a new writing table in that wood, which is not only good looking but practical. There are shelves, racks and drawers, and the ledge at the top is for ornaments.

Bedroom Draperies.

Very pretty bedroom curtains are made of dotted muslin, with large dots, which are worked over in yellow or blue wash floss. These should be draped up high on one side and quite low on the other, and fastened with large bows of white ribbon.

For sash curtains the daintiest things are the new art shades in china silk—robin's egg and turquois blue, old rose, green, copper, etc.

A graceful way of arranging drapery over a bedstead is to have a ring fixed to the ceiling and the material drawn through it, and allowed to hang in ample folds behind the bedstead and at both sides.

Small Tables Instead of One Long One.

The fashion of substituting small tables for the ordinary large dining table bids fair to be a popular one in England, at any rate in country houses, where space is less of a consideration than it necessarily is in town. At Sandringham, during a recent "house party," the dinner was served in this way, several round tables being used instead of the one long one, with a marked increase, it is said, in the general conversation. By all accounts this is not the first time this arrangement has been adopted in the Prince of Wales' household—a fact that will give the custom a prestige on this side the water with Anglomaniacs.

Fish Pie.

Cut any solid fish in neat pieces; it must be cleared of skin and bone. Mix a seasoning of finely sifted parsley, powdered marjoram, salt and pepper; strew this over the fish, dip every side of the pieces in warmed butter, and put them in a pie dish, leaving room for liquid to flow between. Beat four or five eggs well, and mix them with half a pint to a pint of cream or good milk. Put halved oysters or sardines between the pieces of fish. Pour the cream over, cover with a light paste, glaze it over with egg and bake.

Household Hints.

An effectual remedy for slimy and greasy drain pipes is copperas dissolved and left to work gradually through the pipe.

To clean marble, mix whiting with common soap till thick as paste. Spread it on the marble and leave it for a couple of days. When the paste is cleaned off the stains will also be removed.

If soot falls upon the carpet, throw upon it an equal quantity of salt, and sweep all up together. There will be scarcely a trace of soot left.

To remove grease spots from felt, make some fuller's earth into a thick paste, lay it on the felt, leave it to dry, and then brush it with a stiff brush.

To clean windows satisfactorily try the following: Dust the glass, both in and out side, with what is called a painter's "duster," wash with a sponge and water containing a little [illegible], rinse and dry with a soft cloth, and polish with a dry, clean [illegible]. The bright and clean effect will be astonishingly permanent.

BUYING A HORSE.

Some Valuable Rules to Be Followed in So Doing.

In case you have [illegible] be called to buy a family horse, and [illegible] the face of this earth, or above or beneath it, will cause you to change your mind, be careful to observe certain rules and be guided by certain fixed principles.

It may shock you to be told that there are many reasons why you should try a white horse, but wait and see. In the first place, the boy who takes care of him has to put in more work for his wages, and that's a rebate for you. In the next, you can see him if out driving in a dark night, whereas you couldn't tell whether a black horse was in front or behind you.

Thirdly, if you happen to go out in the barn of a night, your white horse defines his position, whereas you are quite liable to blunder up against the heels of a black one and get hurt. If you are driving around town your white horse can be seen a mile away, and the ambulance, fire engines, brick and ice wagons can get ready to turn into the side streets and avoid being run down. Lastly, you can wear any colored socks or suspenders while driving a white horse and always combine harmony and effect. Whenever you see a man with a blue necktie driving a sorrel pacer, you may be sure that he knows nothing about harmony of dress.

Do not advertise your want, but casually mention to some friend that if he hears of something extra good and cheap he might mention it, though you are in no hurry to buy. It will surprise you to find out how many good things your friend knows of in the way of horseflesh, and how anxious he is to do you a kindness. The first horse will be around to your house in exactly twenty-five minutes.

Don't get the idea that everybody in town wants to sell his nag. Not more than one-half of the horses will be sent around to you.

The first point to settle is the price. You are willing to pay $250. Every man with a horse is willing to sell for $250, which is, of course, a sacrifice of at least fifty dollars on his part. It is a sad thing to see a man have to knock off fifty dollars from the actual value of the best family horse in the world, but you are not advised to shed any tears over it. In the course of an hour, if you exhibit proper firmness and indifference, you can beat him down to your figure. You feel that you are robbing him, and that it is a mean action on your part, but feelings don't count in buying a horse.

Now, first examine the animal's mouth. If there are any tenpenny nails between his teeth, or he has a piece of boot leg laid away alongside of his cheek for a quid, he's a hearty feeder and all right. The black spots on the teeth indicate the horse's age. If there are only three, then he is a 3-year-old. If there are sixty, then he is a 60-year-old.

The eyes come next. Be sure that his sight is all right, and that he won't take a dancing bear or a minstrel parade for a load of new hay coming in town from Taylor township. The best way to try a horse's vision is to stand off with a piece of board and make as if you would hit him across the nose.

The feet have considerable to do with a horse, as he is popularly supposed to walk around on them. Look out for quarter cracks, half cracks and whole cracks. Don't pay as much for a quarter crack as a whole one. The frog of the foot should be located somewhere near the center in a good horse.

Then look for ringbones and spavins. Take the chances that the other fellow doesn't know any more than you do about it, and look around the legs instead of the head and neck. It will be best to find some, or something to make him believe that you are not a greenhorn. Then ask the following questions:

"Has he ever been sick?"

"No."

"Does he crib?"

"No."

"Does he kick?"

"Never."

"Has he ever run away?"

"You couldn't scare him into such a thing."

"Will he stand?"

"Like a rock."

"Afraid of anything?"

"Nothing on earth."

"What's his best record?"

"Can my wife drive him?"

"Right up to an elephant, if she wants to."

"How is he on shoes?"

"Say! I was going to speak to you about that. He only needs shoeing twice a year. Never saw a horse so easy on shoes."

"Looks like a heavy feeder."

"But he isn't. Six quarts of oats and a pinch of hay daily will keep him rolling fat."

"Then you guarantee him all around?"

"I do. If there's one single thing wrong with that horse I don't know it."

"Well, I guess I'll take him."

And he'll turn out to be just as good a horse as if you had gone out to a pasture some night, shut your eyes and flung a stone, and cried out that you'd take the nag the missile fell nearest to.—Detroit Free Press.

Europe's Curse

Is becoming epidemic in America. Alarming spread of the disease everywhere. No place escaping the ravages of this terrible monster. The mortality greater than ever known in the history of the world. [illegible] attributed by scientists to [illegible] cause.

Microbes have been captured in the air and compared with microbes found in patients affected with the grip and found to be identical the same. After carefully experimenting with various chemicals to find a remedy which would destroy the microbe after [illegible] injury to the patient a few drops of Persian Catarrh syrup was placed upon the microbe and it was instantly killed. Upon the first approach of this disease you have a tired feeling, then headache sets in followed by [illegible] pains in the back and bones, eyes pain and nostrils sore, a chilly sensation next makes its appearance and a high fever follows. At this critical period do not trifle with what you may think is only a slight cold. Nature sounds the warning, then give heed at once or pneumonia sets in and life is endangered. It is simply the part of wisdom to respect nature's warning and give assistance at once. This wonderful preparation having been the first and only one yet discovered that will destroy microbes it should be kept at hand and upon the first approach a few doses of Persian Catarrh Syrup will dispel it as if by magic and a single bottle always a cure.

John Leslie, farmer and stockman, of same place, says: "Find Electric Bitters to be the best Kidney and Liver medicine, made me feel like a new man." J. W. Gardner, hardware merchant, same town, says: Electric Bitters is just the thing for a man who is all run down and don't care whether he lives or dies; he found new strength, good appetite and felt just like he had a new lease on life. Startling Facts.

The American people are rapidly becoming a race of nervous wrecks, and the following suggests the best remedy: Alphonso Hempfling, of Butler, Pa., swears that when his son was speechless from St. Vitus dance Dr. Miles' great Restorative Nervine cured him. Mrs. J. R. Miller, of Valparaiso, and J. D. Taylor, of Logansport, Ind., each gained 20 pounds from taking it. Mrs. H. A. Gardner, of Vistula, Ind., was cured of 40 to 50 convulsions a day, and much headache, dizziness, backache and nervous prostration by one bottle. Sudden Deaths.

Heart disease is by far the most frequent cause of sudden death, which in three out of four cases is unsuspected. The symptoms are not generally understood. These are: a habit of lying on the right side, short breath, pain or distress in side, back or shoulder, irregular pulse, asthma, weak and hungry spells, wind in stomach, swelling of ankles or dropsy, oppression, dry cough and smothering. Dr. Miles' illustrated book on heart disease at Denison & Co. and Hoberman & Co. who sell and guarantee Dr. Miles' unequaled New Heart Cure, and his Restorative Nervine, which cures nervousness, headache, sleeplessness, effects of drinking, etc. It contains no opiates.

Dyspepsia

Makes the lives of many people miserable, and often leads to self-destruction. Distress after eating, sour stomach, sick headache, heartburn, loss of appetite, a faint, "all gone" feeling, bad taste, coated tongue, and irregularity of the bowels, are some of the more common symptoms. Dyspepsia does not get well of itself. It requires careful, persistent attention, and a remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which acts gently, yet surely and efficiently. It tones the stomach and other organs, regulates the digestion, creates a good appetite, and by thus overcoming the local symptoms removes the sympathetic effects of the disease, banishes the headache, and refreshes the tired mind.

Distress After Eating

Sick Headache

"I have been troubled with dyspepsia. I had but little appetite, and what I did eat distressed me, or did me little good. In an hour after eating I would experience a faintness, or tired, all-gone feeling, as though I had not eaten anything. My trouble, I think, was aggravated by my business, which is that of a painter, and from being more or less shut up in a room with fresh paint. Last spring I took Hood's Sarsaparilla—took three bottles. It did me an immense amount of good. It gave me an appetite, and my food relished and satisfied the craving I had previously experienced." George A. Page, Watertown, Mass.

Oswi Catarrh Remedy

Do not allow Catarrh in the head to continue its course unchecked and unchecked, as it affects the throat, bronchial tubes and lungs and is liable to develop into bronchitis and consumption, that most dreaded destroyer of human life. Oswi Catarrh Remedy will cure you. Instant relief is obtained. It is soothing, antiseptic, cleansing and healing, and no injury to the system will result from its use. Cold in the Head is cured with a few applications. Catarrhal Headache is relieved and quickly cured. It removes offensive breath, loss or impairment of the sense of taste, smell or hearing, roaring in the head, watering or weak eyes. Catarrh of the Head and Throat is a local disease and therefore can be cured only by local application of Oswi Catarrh Remedy. The great value of this remedy for Catarrh is daily becoming better known, and it is recognized as the common sense method of treating this disease. 50 cents per bottle.

While Mr. and Mrs. Eggleston were driving up Main street Tuesday evening they met with an accident which proved to be very injurious to Mrs. Eggleston. It seems that the waterworks company was putting in surface pipe and left the trench which it had been digging during the day open. There being no signal, nothing to warn them of the danger ahead, the horse plunged into the trench, and the result above mentioned followed. They should certainly be more careful about such matters, and at least put some signal in the way to guide travelers from danger.

A survey was being made at the track at the Fair grounds this afternoon. It is the intention to make a regulation track, which will also be widened at the start and around the first turn. The regulation grade will be established all around the circuit. James Irvin has the contract for doing the work and will begin at once.

Progress.

It is very important in this age of vast material progress that a remedy be pleasing to the state and to the eye, easily taken, acceptable to the stomach and healthy in its nature and effects. Possessing these qualities, Syrup of Figs is the one perfect laxative and most gentle diuretic known

Caledonia.

The late return of spring has brought with it some disadvantages to the farmer in the way of early sowing of oats and spring wheat, whereupon the earlier marketing of these cereals there might be realized the advanced prices that so suddenly decline upon the receipts of of larger quantities of the new crops. However they are not found wanting in their efforts, every available team being employed to advantage. The fruit crop is in fair promise to be a good one, which will be as welcome as the low priced sugars

House cleaning is in a fair state of progression, and now while the men are shut out doors would it not be advisable that they should commence an unceasing tirade upon the barnyards, outhouses, etc? It would add much to the benefit of health and may dispel that dreaded malaria our doctors prophesy is coming this summer.

The moving has about closed its unpleasant abors and attention is turned to gardening. Although a little wet, early potatoes, beans, peas, etc., will be welcomed.

The latest troupe visiting our village was not a success financially. A. D. Fulton and Streeter Smith deserve much credit for their untiring efforts to as far them, however they should have been a little more careful to not have disturbed those desiring rest.

More and more do the advantages of a gravel pike come to the front. Hay is an item of interest with us now, and anywhere along the pike road it demands six or seven dollars per ton, while back from it hay can be bought for four dollars per ton. While grain is in demand at big prices it cannot be marketed. Why will the farmer insist on a pike being of no benefit?

Martin Koch, D. Margeraf, David Hart and Mrs. Al Hart are on the sick list but all improving at this writing. Wm. Hart's health is not any better

We are to have another restaurant, opposite the Hartley House, we hear.

Gabe Underwood, our popular barber, has just put in a new three-chair case with several new cups, washstand and glass of the modern style

Our anglers have caught some very fine specimen of carp in the Olentangy.

Rev. Martindale is making an effort to secure a series of four lectures. We wish him success and hope our young people, especially, may be in attendance.

April 16. SEMI OCCASIONALLY

Prospect.

La grippe abounds. We are glad to say that of thirty or forty cases, no deaths have occurred. Some of the names of those who have la grippe are, Rev. D. A. Winters, Rev. C. Hill, Amos Mounts, N. C. Hilford, J. F. Mohr, H. Moore and wife, J. F. Moore and wife, J. F. Bull and wife, J. F. Wottring, F. C. Freeman and wife, F. W. Cook, Prof. Ranck, Mrs. S. J. Farrum and son, etc

The High-school was dismissed Monday morning on account of the sickness of Prof. Ranck; but the other teachers are, doing as efficient work as ever. The attendance is very good considering the sickness.

Miss Stella Barcke commenced a spring term of school in the H[illegible] district, west of Prospect, Monday. School has not commenced in the Welch school, north of town, yet

Mrs. Fannie Knochel is erecting a new dwelling, which will add much to the appearance of the town

Noah Gast will erect a dwelling on one of the lots owned by him in the north part of town

A new butcher shop is being built on Main street by Watt Watkins.

S. L. Wottring has an unusual smile for his friends on account of the little daughter that blesses their home.

H. T. Cartmel and family have moved on a farm four miles north of Richwood. The people of Prospect and vicinity are sorry on account of the change, but wish them success and much happiness in their new home.

F. W. Cook is having a new apartment added to his residence on Main street, which is occupied by John Vought.

Charles Taylor and Sam Price made a flying trip to Auburn, Ind., for the purpose of establishing libraries; but we learn they were not very successful in their work, and they decided to return to our little hamlet and enjoy the blessings derived by living in a nice, comfortable village

Lively Scenes Around a Depot.

CHICAGO, April 17.—Some very animated scenes were witnessed at the Union depot yesterday on the arrival of the Alton train. When the through passengers on it presented their tickets to the Pennsylvania officials they refused to honor them or allow the passengers to board the train. Many of the passengers became excited over the matter, and threatened to make it lively for somebody. When the excitement was at its height agents of the Alton road appeared on the scene, took the passengers in charge, provided them with straight Pennsylvania tickets, and sent them on their way [illegible] and rejoicing.

Big Fire in New York.

NEW YORK, April 17.—Shortly before midnight last night a fire was discovered in the Ross building, at [illegible] at the corner of Hudson Bank, Greenwich and Twelfth streets. The building which was of six stories, was occupied by numerous small firms, and by a branch of the New York postoffice. It was entirely destroyed by 1 a. m. The loss is estimated at [illegible]. All the mail matter in the branch postoffice was saved.

Spaniards Want Eight Hours.

LONDON, April 17.—A Madrid dispatch says that the workingmen in [illegible] towns have determined upon a general strike on the 1st of May, and have resolved to defend themselves against any force sent to attack them. Their demand is an eight-hour working day.

All on Account of a Pig.

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, which has lately assumed the management of the public pound, and John Partridge, who is the efficient poundkeeper of this city and county, are in trouble. It is all over a pig—the pet of a man who walks the streets followed by the animal, which wears a blanket and [illegible] answers its master's call whenever it is given.

Neither the pig nor the man apparently knows that they are the subject of a much mixed controversy, but such is the case. Questions concerning that pig are pouring into the office of the poundkeeper and the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals daily and are becoming more complicated as the time goes on. Here are some of them:

If a pig assumes the manners and privileges of a dog is it not also compelled to take upon itself the same responsibilities the dog has to carry?

Why is this pig not regularly registered and licensed, and why does it not have a tag attached to its collar, which puts it on an equal footing with a dog?

What right has this pig to the freedom of the city?

What legal standing has this pig in case it gets itself into any trouble?

What is the difference between a dog and a pig from a legal point of view?

How can a man take out a dog license for a pig, and would not a pig traveling with such a permit be liable to be arrested for false pretenses?

If Mr. Partridge or his deputies seize this pig for not being licensed, will not its owner have a good cause of action for a damage suit against the city and county?

Such are the knotty problems Mr. Partridge has to wrestle with, and it is because he doesn't know any solution of them that his nights are either sleepless or troubled with dreams, in which he sees people with every kind of animal from an elephant to a mouse following them about the streets as pets.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Points for Travelers.

Here are some facts that prospective visitors to Europe this summer will find it handy to cut out and treasure up for the time at sea when they want to appear well booked as old tourists on matters of transatlantic travel. The first steamship that crossed the Atlantic was the Savannah, in 1819, in twenty-five days, and the first regular line established was the British and American Royal Mail and Steam Packet company, in 1840.

A knot is 6,080 feet long. The distance from New York to Liverpool is 3,064 nautical miles by the northern track and 3,139 miles by the southern track. From Liverpool to New York the distances are respectively 3,039 and 3,109 miles. In estimating records the points taken on either side are Sandy Hook and Daunt's Rock, Queenstown harbor. The first light sighted on the British coast is the Bull, Cow and Calf, Ireland, and on the American coast either Nantucket or Fire Island.

The largest passenger steamship in commission is the City of Paris, 10,449 tons displacement, and the steamship carrying the largest number of cabin passengers is the Etruria, 550. The longest steamship is the Teutonic, 565 feet. The greatest day's run record is 515 miles. A big steamship burns about 300 tons of coal a day, and the average expense of a voyage to Liverpool and return is $75,000 for such a vessel. A first class steamship of one of the great lines costs nearly $2,000,000.—Philadelphia Record.

Died of Hiccough.

Robert Porter three weeks ago had an attack of bilious fever, but nothing more serious developed until a few days ago. He began to hiccough, but it was thought by the physician to be only a temporary affection brought on by the disordered system. The hiccoughing continued almost incessantly, and all the doctors could do was to give the sufferer opiates to put him to sleep. But the rest was only momentary, and the fatal hiccoughing racked his frame for more than two days. The physicians who were called informed the family that unless the hiccoughing could be stopped the patient would die from exhaustion, but they knew of no remedy. Saturday night Mr. Porter, who was strong and heavily built, weakened rapidly, and the end came in a few hours.—Chicago Tribune.

Roped a Criminal from the River.

A burly negro named Martin Long, wanted at Eagle Lake for burglary, was seen by an officer at San Antonio, Tex. As soon as discovered Long ran and was pursued a distance of eight blocks. He finally jumped into the river, and though threatened with a pistol he refused to come out. At last a deputy rode up, unslung a lariat from his saddle bow and attempted to rope him. At each cast the negro dived like a duck. Finally his head unexpectedly appeared above water and the noose settled over it. He was drawn ashore and jailed. Five hundred people witnessed the capture.—Cor. St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Lawrence Barrett's Estate.

Notwithstanding the report that Lawrence Barrett died wealthy, it is now believed that but for his life insurance policies the estate would be a small one. He had about $[illegible] insurance, which he was careful to keep paid up. He had [illegible] invested in scenery and costumes and [illegible] some real estate at Cohasset, Mass. In the production of his plays he was lavish in expenditure in some directions, and the new play of Oscar Wilde's which he produced here cost him [illegible]. His income was large, but he spent it freely in his love for art.—Cor. Philadelphia Press.

It Didn't Pay.

Commander McCalla, of the navy, who was convicted of tyrannical and cruel conduct toward his men and suspended for three years, has seen two commanders promoted over him in the last year and it is said that he is [illegible]. His case may teach others a good lesson.—Detroit Free Press.

NEW GOVERNMENT!

THE OLD CITY COUNCIL RETIRES TO GIVE PLACE TO THE NEW

Which Gets Down to Business at Once and Distributes the Patronage—The Police Force Increased to Six, With a Raise in Salary—Organization Effected, With Porch President and Snyder Clerk.

All members of the retiring city council were present at the meeting at City Hall Thursday evening. The minutes of the two previous meetings were read and approved, but it might be parenthetically remarked that the details of the printers' bills repudiation were ingeniously omitted, thus depriving members who had a fondness for going on record from being recorded on the economical pages.

There was not much business to be transacted, and the session was brief. The committee on accounts had a few small bills in its possession, among them one from Ernest Zachman for three days' services as sealer of weights and measures, amounting to $6. It went in with the rest, all of which were ordered paid.

Sauter introduced an ordinance providing for the compensation of mayor, fixing his salary at $500 per year, with an allowance of $150 for office rent, fuel, etc. The ordinance was given the proper readings, and Isleib offered an amendment to make the increase to $600. The vote on the amendment stood a tie: yeas, Lefler, Porch, Isleib and Roberts; nays, Sauter, Fairbanks, Blake and Kling. The vote on the original ordinance was unanimous.

The old council then adjourned without day and the newly elected received the oath, excepting Conley, who was at home sick and had been sworn in during the afternoon by Mayor Dudley. George Blum, L. L. Molloy, J. F. Lust and M. H. Porch two year men, were sworn in and J. H. Vaughan, Fred Isleib and Frederick Sauter, for the short term.

Solicitor [illegible] received the oath of office, followed by Charles Leisenmayer as street commissioner.

Mr. Porch was nominated at once for president of council for the term of one year, and elected unanimously, and Mr. Vaughan was elected president pro tem. H. L. Snyder likewise received the nomination for clerk and was elected, entering upon his duties at once.

An ordinance was introduced, providing for the appointment of six policemen, at a salary of $45 per month, one of whom is to serve days, from 6 o'clock a.m. to 6 o'clock p.m. The ordinance was adopted unanimously, as was one also increasing the marshal's salary to $[illegible] per month.

The appointment of policemen, which of course was all cut and dried, followed. Mayor Dudley used the slate given him for the purpose, carefully [illegible] that the list had been presented [illegible]. The names are those given in the Star Thursday and as follows: A. Bowen, [illegible] Masterson, James Riley, C. [illegible], F. Bolar, and Con Malloy.

The list of railway watchmen and members of the fire department were [illegible] prepared. The watchmen appointed [illegible] Vansoyoc, John [illegible], Wm. Dean, M. Murray [illegible] H. P. [illegible] his standing committees, as follows:

Streets and Alleys—Lust, Blum and Sauter.

Street Light and Gas—Molloy, Vaughan and Isleib.

Finance and Accounts—Vaughan, Sauter and Conley.

Buildings—Sauter, Isleib and Molloy.

Sanitary and Sewers—Blum, Lust and Vaughan.

Judiciary—Conley, Lust and Blum.

Fire Department and Waterworks—Isleib, Conley and Molloy.

Council will secure new quarters to meet in, the matter of securing a suitable room being put in the hands of the committee on buildings.

An adjournment was made until the regular meeting, Monday, May 4.

MYSTERIOUSLY MISSING.

A Son of N. A. Showen Leaves Home and Can Not Be Located.

Peter Showen, the 19-year-old son of N. A. Showen, the Huber agent, left the home of his parents on Bellefontaine avenue Tuesday, the 14th inst., and has since not been seen nor no trace of him can be found. The boy is 5½ feet high, black hair and eyes; he wore a dark suit, black soft hat and heavy boots. It is the first time he was ever away from home.

There are times when the young man does not appear brilliant, having been at one time seriously afflicted with typhoid fever, from which his mind was affected. No idea is entertained as to the whereabouts of the youth, and the parents are anxious to find some trace of him, and will thankfully receive any information concerning him.
